SYNTHETIC DEMONSTRATION PAPER A

Training outcome pilot with a convenience sample

This document is generated test material, not a real publication or scientific finding.

In a fictional small pilot, one group practiced method A and one group practiced method B.

The recorded task score tended to be higher in the method A group in this invented example.

The groups were not randomly assigned. No formal hypothesis test was reported.

Limitations: convenience sampling, small sample, and uncertain baseline comparability.